Moonshine Lake Provincial Park

Moonshine Lake Provincial Park was established in 1959 and covers an area of 1103 hectares. The Lake, formally known as Mirage, had a name change after two local men accidentally spilled their home-brewed moonshine into the water while transporting it around the lake.

In addition to 3 wooded camping loops, the park offers spacious picnic and group use areas. Moonshine Lake is popular for fishing, either from shore, the docks, or from non-gas powered boats. There is a beach with a playground for children, walking trails around the lake and wildlife viewing platforms. In winter come for cross-country skiing, snowshoeing and skating on an outdoor rink.

Jack Bird Pond, located about 3.5 km SE of Moonshine Lake, provides excellent opportunities for viewing waterfowl.

Alberta's provincial parks have been established to provide visitors with enjoyable outdoor experiences.
